Minutes of Proceedings AT THE Annual Meeting

MARCH 22nd, 1929.

CHAIRMAN: THE CHAIRMAN OF COUNCIL.

The CHAIRMAN: I propose to open our Annual Meeting by proceeding immediately with the business on the agenda, and will call for the appointment of two scrutineers to deal with the voting papers.

Mr. A. E. WHITESIDE: As the scrutineers we had last year, Messrs. Crompton and Palmer, served so well, I propose that they be re-appointed this year.

Mr. A. JOBLING: I have pleasure in seconding that proposal. (Carried unanimously.)

The CHAIRMAN: The next business is the presentation of the Annual Report, and I will first call upon the Honorary Secretary, Mr. Adamson, to read the Secretarial Report.

Annual Report.

In presenting the Annual Report for 1928, we are reminded that it was over 40 years ago when the foundation work was started. There are now only 15 of the original 100 members left on our roll.

During the past year we have recorded 21 deaths and 53 resignations, but also 221 have been added to the membership, as may be noted from the tabulated list showing the results up to the end of the year.

When the list of members is printed it will be noted that several have got out of touch, owing to change of address not being notified—their monthly issues returned marked “not known.” The attention of members is called to the blanks after the names, in order that if the new addresses are known to any, they may be passed on.

The meetings for Papers and Discussions have been held on the 2nd Tuesday of each month at 6.30, from September to May inclusive. A visit was paid to The Exhibition at Olympia, organised by The Machine Tool Trades Association, on September 14th, and in the evening a Paper was read by Mr. A. C. Hardy.

The following is a list of the subjects of the Papers with dates when read. The dates of President's Address and the Conversazione are also given, at which latter event there was a good gathering, and an enjoyable evening. Mr. A. Robertson, Convener, with members of Council as Committee.

The Royal Sanitary Congress was held at Plymouth, July 14th to 21st, when the Hon. Secretary attended as representative. The report is in pp. 423-441, Sept. issue.

The Centenary of the Institution of Civil Engineers was celebrated in June. The report of the event is in pp. 351-359. July issue.

Several members have supplied contributions, which have been welcomed for the monthly issues, thanks to the contributors.

The Reading Room has been made good use of, and the large number of Papers and Technical Journals available for service is profitable to visitors.

Bound volumes of the monthly issues are sent to various libraries, and to the Engineering Institutions with whom we exchange Transactions.

Members desirous of having their monthly issues bound in the uniform standard, may send their copies and have them bound for 7/- including delivery by post to the name and address given

The Library Books have been increased as shown by the supplementary catalogue, and the applications for loan of books indicate that the worth of the Library is appreciated by many.

The reviewing of new books has been undertaken since Mr. McConnell's removal to Glasgow, by Mr. Francis Rae, and as he is to proceed to India for service, another volunteer is required for the reviewing.

The Billiard Room has been kept up to the mark for the service of visitors.

The Juniors' Socials have been held monthly during the season on Saturday evenings and have been well attended. Mr. J. H. Graves has carried on the work in connection with the arrangement for the social gatherings successfully; all credit to him.

Social gatherings have also been held in the premises by the staffs of the General Steam N. Co., Coast Lines, T. & H., and the Old Scholars of Poplar School of Engineering and Navigation. The London Shipping Orchestra meet in the Lecture Hall on Monday evenings, and the Association of Engineer Surveyors on the first Saturday of each month during the season in the Library or the Hall.

The Denny Gold Medal was awarded to Mr. G. R. Hutchinson, Member, for his paper on "Recent Developments in Propelling Equipment of Reciprocating Engined Steamers," and the Institute Silver Medal to Mr. A. Greenfield for his paper on "Practical Refrigeration for Ships." The medals will be presented by the Chairman at our Annual Meeting.

Awards Committee: Messrs. G. Adams, C. W. Barnes, J. Hawthorn, A. Jobling, J. Thorburn, J. Ward, B.Sc., G. J. Wells, with A. H. Mather and Hon. Secretary, Joint Conveners.

The work in connection with Awards was initiated in 1908 and gradually extended. The lists of candidates for the Lloyd's Register Scholarship and Student Graduate Examinations have been much reduced during recent years since 1920.

Three Essays were received for awards; two under the Sir Archibald Denny Donation, by "Cyclops" and by "Foremast," both by seagoing members, Mr. E. Goodson and Mr. H. McDonald, respectively, to each of whom an award was allotted, and their essays it was agreed to print in the Transactions after communicating with them. Mr. Goodson's was printed in the January Issue, and Mr. McDonald's will follow as we have now heard from a foreign port from him. The other essay by "A Strake," found to be Mr. J. K. Barrow, Student Graduate for promotion to Associate, was under the W. Murdoch and D. F. Robertson Combined Donations, and an award was allotted to him.

The Student Graduate Examination was held in the premises where one attended; Leyton 2; Newcastle 12; Cardiff 1; 16 in all. Of these 7 passed in all subjects, and prizes were awarded to those who gained highest marks in each subject or equal.

1st English: D. Tagg.

1st Electricity: J. Henderson.

1st Theo. Mechanics: D. Tagg, W. L. Stevenson, L.J.P. Lively.

1st Heat and Heat Engines: D. Tagg.

1st Machine Construction Drawing: J. Henderson, J. P. Reid, L. J. P. Lively, J. H. Tiplady, E. D. Stockman.

1st Applied Mechanics: J. Henderson.

1st Mathematics: J. P. Reid.

The following passed in all subjects to entitle them to the Student Graduate Certificate and Election:—H. S. G. Kimber sat in London; E. G. Lowes, J. P. Reid, W. W. Sweet, L. J. P. Lively, D. Tagg, L. J. Thomas. The prizes and results of the examination so far as they affected the Rutherford College Students were forwarded to The Principal to give on the prize giving day at Newcastle.

The candidates who failed to pass in all subjects may have the opportunity of passing in these at next examination.

The examination for the Lloyd's Register Scholarship was held in the following centres:—Cardiff, 2 candidates; Crewe 1, Edinburgh 1, Glasgow 2, Newcastle 8, Sunderland 2. It is interesting to note those who attained highest marks in each subject:—

Arithmetic and Algebra: W. S. B. Kidd, Newcastle.

Hydrostatics and Thermodynamics: T. S. Harker, Sunderland.

Geometry: J. D. Pearson, Cardiff.

English: J. D. Pearson, Cardiff.

Applied Mechanics: B. Pugh, Cardiff, and W. Marsh, Newcastle.

French: T. S. Harker, Sunderland.

Trigonometry and Logarithms: A. Neilson, Edinburgh.

Practical Engineering: G. Foster, Crewe.

The three candidates who gained the highest overall marks were in order of merit:—1, J. D. Pearson, Cardiff; 2, G. Foster, Crewe; 3, T. S. Harker, Sunderland.

The reading of the Essays and allocation of marks merited for each is dealt with by the Awards Committee members. The results are then summarised and considered at a subsequent meeting, when the final decision is made and the result reported to the Council.

The questions for the Student Graduate and the Lloyd's Register Scholarship are set by members of the Awards Committee, and the marks allocated accordingly, except in re the languages which are dealt with by an Education Officer.

At a subsequent oral examination of the two highest candidates by a committee composed of representatives of Lloyd's Register of Shipping and of the Institute, it was resolved to recommend J. D. Pearson for the scholarship, and this was afterwards approved by Lloyd's Register. The successful candidate chose to attend the College at Cardiff.

We were indebted to Mr. J. A. Johnson, J.P., Cardiff; the Principal of the High School, Crewe; Mr. F. H. Reid, B.Sc., Sunderland; Mr. A. Girdwood and Heriot Watt College

Principal, Edinburgh; Mr. J. W. Richardson and Rutherford College Principal, Newcastle; Mr. P. Manson and Board of Trade Officer, Glasgow, for kindly assisting in the examination arrangements and supervision.

The recent Scholarship Holders are E. H. Hall, 1927/29 who is attending King's College, London, and during the interval he was in the works of Messrs. Richardson, Westgarth; R. T. Gardiner, 1926/28 is attending the Armstrong College, Newcastle, and during the interval was employed by the Cork S.P. Co., he passed the examination for B.Sc. and takes the final in 1929; J. T. McIntyre, B.Sc., 1925/7, who was attending the Royal Technical College, Glasgow, gained the Wh. Sch. of £250, and an award for the Thesis he wrote, from the Technical College, and is now attending Cambridge University, research work for Ph.D.

Titanic E.S. Memorial Fund Committee: Messrs. C. Beldam, A. Jobling, John McLaren, A. E. Whiteside; with the Hon. Secretary, Convener.

The Memorial Fund was inaugurated in 1912, after the disaster to the Titanic in April, resulting in the loss of so many lives.

The Titanic Engineering Staff Memorial Fund—inaugurated after the disaster in 1912, see vol. 1911/12—has been utilised for giving help to the widows, children and relatives of deceased members of Marine Engineers. Donations are given annually to The Royal Merchant Seamen's Orphanage—in which two children of deceased members are—Royal Caledonian Schools—in which two children were placed in 1928—Wanstead Infant Orphanage; Poplar Hospital; the School for Motherless Children, Ealing; and the Royal Scottish Hospital. The account book is kept by the T.E.S.M. Committee and consulted when cases are brought up for consideration. The balance was overdrawn in December, but on January 1st this was more than covered by dividend warrants received. The balance sheet shows the receipts and expenditure. Mr. C. T. Hampshire, Member, has kindly made a model to 1/64 scale of the Titanic, in a glass case to place near the memorial in the entrance hall.

REPORTS FROM REPRESENTATIVES ON COMMITTEE.

Engineering and Commercial School Training.—The Hon. Secretary, The Poplar School of Engineering and Navigation is moving ahead and the premises are being extended to give better accommodation for the work carried on. The prizes gained by the students in 1928 were presented by Mr. R. W. Allen, Bedford, who delivered an excellent address, good for the assembled students and friends to listen to. The alterations made in the examination for masters and mates certificates were referred to at several of the Advisory Committee Meetings, and the details discussed by those chiefly concerned. The wisdom of the wise comes on the scene when the extension of the examination to engineering and boiler treatment is proposed for deck officers.

The Bow Central School is also doing well, and the craftsmanship work is encouraged, so also is the social spirit. The Chamber of Commerce give prizes for certain subjects, the papers being set and passed on to reach the supervisor shortly before the appointed time for the examination. The results lead to names being placed on the list for appointments with commercial firms. The examinations are held in different areas of Great Britain and the Dominions. The Bow Central School is included in the list.

The Merchant Shipping Advisory Committee (Mr. J. Shanks, Representative).—Only three meetings have been held during the year, all dealing with questions relating to life-saving appliances and wireless on board ships, in regard to which recommendations were made to the Board of Trade and adopted.

The Corrosion Research Committee (Mr. Jas. M. Dewar, Representative).—Have been investigating the important subject of corrosion and more especially the difficult questions which have arisen regarding condenser tubes upon which light has been cast.

Observations made during 1927 had directed attention to the incomplete state of knowledge regarding that type of condenser tube corrosion which is associated with the impingement of rapidly moving seawater. This form of attack was known to be of great practical importance, and a thorough knowledge of its main controlling factors appeared to be essential for the satisfactory interpretation of many condenser tube tests. Much of the work during the past year was arranged with the object of obtaining the necessary information on the mechanism of "impingement attack." This work has proceeded satisfactorily and the results obtained were included in the Eighth Report to the Corrosion Research Committee, which was presented to the Autumn Meeting.

The work has shown much more clearly how the conditions which result in "impingement attack" may be brought about in actual condensers, and gives reasonable grounds for the hope that the practical cure of this form of attack is in sight.

The information now available clears up many of the difficulties experienced during previous tests with the experimental condenser and should enable this apparatus to be more effectively used during the present year than in the past.

The difficulty of obtaining certain known types of pitting action in tests carried out in the laboratory has led to renewed attention being given to the corrosive conditions which may occur in condensers in practical working, but which are difficult to imitate on a small scale, and several condensers have been closely investigated, and some unexpected and important observations have been made with regard to the conditions of temperature and their effects on corrosion of the tubes. An extension of this line of work during the present year is thought to be most desirable, and should do much to make the research more directly practical.

Heat Engine Trials Committee (Representatives, Messrs. J. Carnaghan, A. E. Seaton and G. J. Wells).

Petroleum Products for Engineering Service (Mr. J. E. Chaloner, Representative).—The position with regard to the work carried out by the various Committees engaged in the investigation of the standardisation of specifications for the different oil products during the current year under review is as follows:—

1. Petrol and Allied Products.—A revision of the B.S. specification No. 121-1923 for motor spirit has been decided on, and has been referred to the Sub-Committee on Motor Spirit for consideration with special reference to specifications B and C.

2. Kerosene and Similar Products.—No further steps have been taken with regard to a standard specification.

3. Gas Oil, Fuel Oil, and Other Residual Grades.—There are still no indications of the increased use of the various specifications.

(a) B.S. Specification No. 209-1924, Fuels for Heavy Oil Engines.—This specification was reviewed at a meeting of the Petroleum Industry Committee last year when it was agreed that the specification did not require revision with the possible exception of the clauses dealing with the sulphur content. It was therefore decided that it should be referred to the Sub-Committee on Fuel Oils, in order that the question of the sulphur content might be more fully reviewed, with special reference to the effect of sulphur on the containing tanks, etc.

(b) Fuel Oil for Burners.—The question of preparing a British Standard Specification for fuel oils for burners has been considered by the Petroleum Industry Committee, but it was decided to take no immediate action in the matter, it being pointed out that the better grades of oil for use under burners would be covered by B.S.S. No. 209-1924.

4. Lubricating Oils and Allied Lubricants.—Much consideration has been given to the question of lubricating oil standardisation. Careful attention has been given to the necessity of such a step. After a good deal of discussion it was decided that it was premature at the present time to undertake this work, as the field to be covered was so very wide and complex.

(a) With reference to a specification for pure mineral lubricating oil, this was reviewed by the Petroleum Industry Committee. It has been decided that no action at the present is called for regarding the revision or extension of the classification.

(b) A Sub-Committee has been appointed to prepare a British Standard Specification for turbine oils, and a preliminary meeting of the new Committee has been held.

5. Asphalt and Similar Petroleum Products.—The position with regard to these products is the same as before, there being no immediate necessity for grouping such products under any special specification.

Screw Threads Committee (Representative, Engr. Rear-Admiral Whayman).

The Standardisation of Pipe Colouring (Mr. A. E. Crighton, Representative).—This has been dealt with very fully, after consulting Supt. Engineers and Engine Builders on the various colours for pipes, it was resolved to recommend that the colours approved by the majority be recommended for adoption.

Marine Oil Engine Trials Committee (Mr. S. B. Freeman, C.B.E., M.Eng., Representative).

Royal Naval Reserve (Mr. J. B. Harvey, Representative).

Nuts and Bolts B.E.S.A. Committee (Representatives, Messrs. R. S. Kennedy and A. F. C. Timpson).

The Conference agreed that no alteration should be made in the British Standard Whitworth sizes of black hexagon nuts or boltheads.

The Conference agreed that B.E.S.A. should consider for bright bolts and nuts the publication as a standard of a B.S.F. nut with a B.S.W. thread, which is now accepted in the trade. (Note.—This recommendation has been practically accepted by B.E.S.A. and the British Standard Specification will shortly be issued).

The Conference were of opinion by a majority vote that while they were in favour of Imperial Standardisation it was not advisable for the B.E.S.A. to participate in an International Conference to consider the adoption of an International Standard of bolts and nuts, but they were in favour of a representative from the B.E.S.A. attending such a conference purely to hold a watching brief.

The Institute is represented by the Hon. Secretary on the General Committee in London in connection with the Engineering Conference at Tokio, in October, 1929. Mr. A. Watt, Member (Lloyd's Register Surveyor), Kobe, has been appointed as delegate to attend the Conference meetings, and two papers have been arranged for, one by Mr. W. S. Burn, M.Sc., on "Modern Tendencies in Oil Engine Design," and one by Mr. G. R. Hutchinson, on "Modern Developments of Marine Steam Propulsion."

The Institute is also represented by invitation at the opening of various Exhibitions held in connection with science and art, machinery, and tools, etc., and when the exhibition is of widespread interest and value to our members, special terms of admission and accommodation for meetings are obtained.

The addition of Notes, Boiler Explosion Reports and List of Candidates who pass the Board of Trade examinations, in the monthly issues, appear to be of service to members who have not the opportunity of visiting the Reading Rooms to scan the technical papers. Several members have expressed indebtedness to the notes and information gained, thus justifying their addition.

The Coming of Age Celebration of the Institute of Metals takes place on March 13th and 14th, on which occasion we are invited to attend.

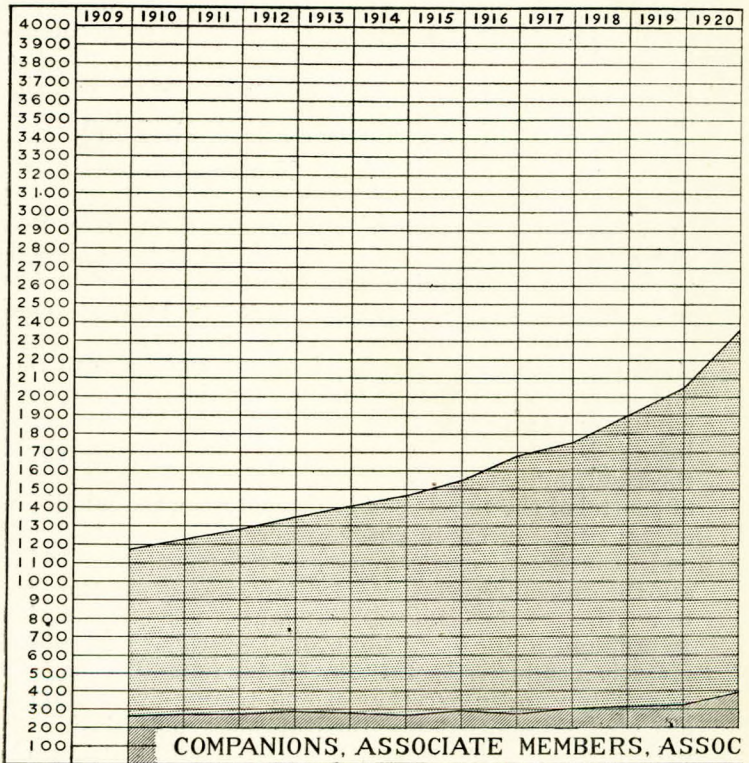

The following appeared in "The Marine Engineer," March, 1889, and is reprinted in "The Marine Engineer and Motor Shipbuilder" of March, 1929:—

Institute of Marine Engineers.—A public meeting of engineers and others interested in the formation of the above was held at Stratford on Tuesday evening, February 12th. Mr. A. Beldam occupied the chair, and was supported by Messrs. Lester, W. J. Craig, A. W. Robertson, G. Neely (solicitor), J. W. Domoney (hon. treasurer), and J. Adamson (hon. secretary). The Chairman introduced the business of the evening in a brief speech, pointing out the need that exists for such an Institute as was proposed, the desirability of having rooms easy of access from the docks for the accommodation of engineers, and the want of an association conducted on a good sound basis. The following resolution was proposed by Mr. Lester (Messrs. Lester and Perkins): "I beg to move that this meeting express hearty approval of the work of the organising committee to this date, and endorse the views and principles as enunciated in the memorandum of association as read by the solicitor, Mr. Neely, and do further express confidence in the committee by voting unanimously a resolution to the effect that the articles of constitution, based upon the memorandum, be framed by the committee acting along with the solicitor, so as to meet the requirements of the Board of Trade, as a condition to the granting of a licence for the registration of the Institute of Marine Engineers, under Section 23 of the 'Companies Act, 1867.'" Mr. Fish (chief engineer, P. and O. Company) seconded the resolution in a few well-chosen sentences, and assured the committee of his support. The resolution being put to the meeting, was carried unanimously.

From a circular now being distributed to the members and friends of the Institute of Marine Engineers, it would appear that a practical step has been made towards the provision of enlarged freehold premises for the better accommodation of the members of the Institute. It is very much to the credit of the Marine Engineers that rapid and continuous increase of the membership to the Institute, and the energetic support that the members give to one another, and to the business of the Institute, that there is a call for so extended an accommodation so shortly after the inception of the Institute. We see that already suitable freehold premises, in one of the best situations in Stratford, have been selected and secured, and the erection of an additional lecture hall and various alterations to the premises have been decided upon. Nearly £700 have been contributed or promised already by friends to the Institute, headed by a handsome donation of £300 from the worthy President, Peter Denny, LL.D. This is an excellent beginning, and we have no doubt the desired amount of £2,500 will be forthcoming very shortly. We are sure that the Institute merits the cordial support of shipowners and of underwriting corporations, since their interests must be closely bound up with the status and increase of knowledge and communication between marine engineers as a body. Any serious accident at sea, except collisions, is usually in the engine-room or boiler stokeholds, and the resulting damages commercially in the way of delay or loss of control of the vessel usually depend upon the intelligence and energy of engineers in charge under what may be totally new and unexpected circumstances. Any device, then, which will aid the communication of hardly-bought experience from one to another of the engineers, or which may add to their self-respect and status as a body of well-educated professional men, must be conducive to their increased reliability and value on board ship under exceptional and trying circumstances. We are glad to see that the Institute does not consider it derogatory to its higher scientific duties to afford its members opportunities of social meetings and relaxation. This class of meetings would, we think, be admirably adapted to establish an esprit-de-corps in this branch of the profession, and lead to much interchange of information under the guise of friendship being interchanged amongst the members and between the members of the various different trades interested in steam-shiping.

INSTITUTE OF CHART OF

made by Mr. J. THOM.

In order to bring the historic removals up to date, it appears desirable to add the next change decided upon when the foundation stone of our new premises was laid by Sir David Burnett, Lord Mayor of London; Sir Thos. L. Devitt, President, having so favourably arranged the event. There was a large representative assembly on the occasion.

The "Marine Engineer," February, 1915, reported the opening of the premises by Sir Archibald Denny, President, and his inaugural address delivered on January 20th. The premises are illustrated and described with complimentary comments. It was also stated that the building stands on an island site at the foot of the Minories, close to the Tower, Port of London Authority premises, The Royal Mint, Registrar General of Shipping premises, and near Mark Lane and Fenchurch Street and Aldgate stations. We have now been fully 14 years in these premises.

On behalf of the Council,

JAS. ADAMSON,

Hon. Secretary.

Gordon's Technical Classes, taking his F.E.I.S., but was in no regular employment until he went to America in April, 1923, and served as engineer in die-making department mostly. The appointment he held at Detroit from 1923 till his death was with the Cadillac Motor Co. and Ford's Engineering Works. On the death of his father he and his brother, the late Provost James Clark founded the thread manufacturing firm of J. and R. Clark, Paisley. After a long and successful career, that firm was taken over by his cousins, and became a part of The Auchoe Thread Mills. Mr. Clark then retired, and being largely interested financially in shipping, he devoted a great deal of his time in the interests of Messrs. The Shaw Savill and Albion Co., Ltd., in which firm he was for many years a very active director. As he visited the steamers regularly at the docks he was very well known and much respected by the captains, officers and engineers in the employ, and we had the pleasure of meeting him on several occasions.

After serving his apprenticeship he took a three year's course at the Royal Naval School of Architecture. He entered as Engineer in the Royal Navy for four years till 1871, when he left for a shore appointment in Messrs. Earle's works. His next move was to Messrs. Harland and Wolff's service at Belfast, where he was entrusted with the extension of premises to embrace large engine works. He was manager of the engine works, and the machinery of the Majestic, Teutonic, Olympic, Oceanic, Adriatic, Baltic and others came under his management. He retired from active service with Messrs. Harland and Wolff about 1920, but was still kept in touch with the firm and did consulting work. Deduct Decrease	—	66 0 4
Increase as above	—	£857 17 9

5. The difference between the increase of £619 8s. 10d. in Revenue and the increase of £857 17s. 9d. in Expenditure accounts for the decrease of £238 8s. 11d. as mentioned in Paragraph 2.

The Increase in Revenue is due chiefly to an increase of £353 6s. 9d. in Subscriptions, and £203 6s. 10d. in Advertisements.

The Increase in Expenditure is chiefly due to General Expenses (mainly Staff Salaries and Stationery and General Printing), Printing of Papers and Discussions (including cost of Catalogue of Papers) and the single premium paid for Endowment Policy of £5,000.

6. Internal Combustion Engines Publication Account.—During the year further Sales have been made, bringing the balance carried forward on this Account up to £201 0s. 8d.

7. Oil Engine Trials Committee Reports.—During the year the Sales on this account have exceeded the further purchases and the balance carried forward has been reduced to £49 9s. 8d.

8. An additional Endowment Policy for £5,000 has been taken out during the year, making a total of £20,000, which more than covers the original cost of the City Premises and the cost of the Policies.

9. The Investments stand at cost, with one exception. The £200 2½% Consols were valued at £119 at 31st January, 1919, and still stand at that figure.

10. We have verified the Investments and the Bank Balances and have inspected the Title Deeds. We have obtained all the information and explanations we have required. In our opinion the Balance Sheet of your Institute has been properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the Institute's affairs according to the best of our information and the explanations given us and as shown by the Books of the Institute.

Yours truly,

WEST & DRAKE,

Chartered Accountants.

The report I have just read is very comprehensive and gives a very clear comparison with those of last year; there are, however a few points to which I should like to draw your particular attention.

The balance on Revenue Account is the highest we have ever had, as though it is given as £963 12s. 5d. we must not lose sight of the fact that we had sunk £407 1s. 8d. in a £5,000 Redemption Policy on these Premises—these two figures should be added together to give a clear comparison with other years, making a total of £1,370 14s. 1d., and this is in spite of the fact that our expenditure has increased by £516 16s. 3d.

The item which shows the greatest increase is General Expenses, viz., £258 2s. 7d., and is due mainly to increase of clerical work involving the payment of temporary assistance which I am afraid is almost certain to become permanent.

The other large increase is £220 8s. 7d. on printing of Papers and Discussions; £183 8s. 7d. of this is due to the Transactions being more voluminous, and the balance of £37 increase is for the printing of additional advertisements. The latter item is more than counterbalanced by an increase of revenue from advertisements of £203 6s. 10d.

The Council are continuing the policy of striking off the Register all those who are badly in arrear with their subscriptions, but even so the income from subscriptions is up by the handsome amount of £353 6s. 9d. This is due to quite a number of members paying up arrears of subscriptions, as the actual membership has only increased by 12 over the number given in the previous year's report.

The total increase of revenue from all sources is increased by £619 8s. 10d.

I have already referred to the additional leasehold Redemption Policy which has been taken out during the year; this is for £5,000, and is with the Royal Exchange Assurance Co. It will mature in 2012, and will coincide with the maturity date of the other policies referred to in the Balance Sheet.

Our Deposit Account is increased to £4,000, carrying interest at the rate of 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, this has recently been further increased to £4,500.

The Auditors have dealt with the Capital Account as in previous years. The total figure of £22,577 9s. 8d. is an extremely conservative one and takes no account of the undoubted appreciation in value since the premises were built, or the surrender value of leasehold Redemption Policies to the value of £5,000. One has of course to bear in mind that our lease has 82 years to run and the time will come when the Auditors must show the value of the City Premises and that of the leasehold Redemption Policies as decreasing and increasing amounts respectively.

No further Life Members have been added to our lists and the amount of £10 8s. 9d. is the same on this account as for the last two years.

The basement Offices are still let to the same tenants, although a slight modification may be made in respect to one of them by our possibly taking over one of the rooms—both these tenants have the option of terminating their tenancy or carrying on as from September, 1929.

The item for repairs and decorations is very low, but this year we shall receive the triennial report from the Architects as to what should be done in this respect during the coming year.

We still have about 128 copies of the Internal Combustion Engine Book for sale—will members kindly take note as we should like to clear them as quickly as possible, this has proved quite a valuable transaction and shows to date a profit of £201 0s. 8d.

You will have noted that the amount received from the Trustees of the late H. Akroyd Stuart has been invested in $3\frac{1}{2}\%$ Conversion Loan, the small expenses in connection with the purchase of same came from the General Funds.

This year I asked the Auditors to show, as a separate item, the expenses incurred in connection with the Student Graduate and Lloyds' Register Scholarship Examinations, as well as the other Awards.

I stated in my report last year that the Council proposed to try and obtain more entries for the various awards which are available. Fresh regulations concerning these have now been circulated which the Council hope will have the desired effect.

The Social Events Account requires some explanation. The large amount of £968 6s. 8d. is due mainly to the fact that the Accounts for the November Conversation had not then been paid—these have since been met. At the end of the year the amount in hand, after deducting liabilities, was £82 8s. 6d. I have only to-day received the last account in connection with the Dinner at the Guildhall and I find that the loss on that event amounted to £34 2s. 1d., which deducted from the above figure leaves a balance in hand for next season's two functions of £48 6s. 5d. I may say I had anticipated a much heavier loss, and had already suggested to the Council that we might have to make a call on the general funds to meet the expenses.

The Titanic Engineering Staff Memorial (Benevolent) Fund has this year distributed £187 15s. and slightly in excess of the total income by £7 7s. This is the largest amount that has been given away in any one year.

In conclusion I think you will agree that the whole of the figures show a very satisfactory financial condition and certainly better than any that have previously been submitted.

The CHAIRMAN: You have heard the Financial Report and Statement and I will ask for any questions or comments you may wish to make regarding them.

Mr. A. H. MATHER: I do not think there are any questions to be asked after such a clear and lucid statement, but there is one comment I would like to make with regard to a word the Honorary Treasurer used. In referring to the increase in cost of clerical work, he said that he was 'afraid' that this increase would remain permanent. I think his use of the word 'afraid' was not quite happy or appropriate. The increase in cost is due to the increase of the work of the Institute, and in that case is all to the good.

Mr. J. THOM: I think the Honorary Treasurer is to be congratulated on the work he does during the year in supervising the accounts and in organising the Conversazione and Dinner. A tremendous amount of work is involved, and I think we annually owe him a deep debt of gratitude. (Applause.)

Mr. F. J. MAYOR: It is my privilege and pleasure to propose the adoption of the Reports. In the first place I think we must pay a tribute to those who have carried out the work of compiling these reports, which involve a great deal of labour and thought. This year is somewhat remarkable in that it marks the completion of four decades in the history of the Institute and shows that the importance of the Institute is steadily increasing. We cannot dissociate from this reference the great part played in the Institute's past history by the Honorary Secretary, Mr. Adamson, and we hope that he will be spared for many years yet with undiminished vigour. We are sorry to learn from the Honorary Treasurer that there has been a loss on the Annual Dinner at the Guildhall, but that is counteracted by the fact that we have been honoured this year by the presence of the Prince of Wales, and we trust that he will be with us on future occasions.

It is gratifying to note that the Membership has continued to increase. The increase is less than last year, but it shows that the growth of the Membership is maintained. There is one figure which is not so pleasing, that is the very large increase in the number of lapsed members, 135 against 35 last year. That is a feature which we feel merits the close attention of the Council.

We have had during the past Session a very interesting and varied series of papers, and it is gratifying to know that we are keeping pace with modern developments of ship propulsion.

Just now we are passing through an era of experiment and enterprise. Time only will prove which of the various systems of propulsion is fittest, and the Institute is fully alive to the importance of authoritative information being given to the members through the papers read and discussed here and published in the Transactions.

We must also congratulate Mr. J. D. Pearson on winning the Lloyd's Register Scholarship last year, and Messrs. Hall and Gardiner, the senior holders of the Scholarship, on their satisfactory progress during the year. We are grateful to the representatives of the Institute on the various outside Committees, and in particular the representative on the Corrosion Research Committee, which is doing a great deal of very important work at the present time.

In conclusion, on behalf of our members, I would express our sympathy with the relatives of those members who have been taken from us during the past year.

I have much pleasure to proposing that the Reports be adopted.

MR. W. A. CHRISTIANSON: I have much pleasure in rising to second the proposal so ably made by Mr. Mayor. We would like to add our appreciation of the management of the Institute as carried out by Messrs. Adamson, Robertson, Curling and other officials; we feel that the Institute has been well conducted both in a business way and in a technical way in regard to papers, and in matters of finance also. The papers have attained a very high standard, and have embraced a wide range of subjects of interest to our members including many modern developments of engineering. Not only the papers but the discussions have been very interesting and widely contributed to by many of the members. We note that five of the Authors are our own members, and we especially congratulate Mr. Hutchinson on winning the Denny Gold Medal, also the other winners of awards who cannot be here to-night. The social side of the Institute has also happily reached a very high standard, not only the Dinner at the Guildhall and the Conversazione, but the functions which take place in these premises, which I am glad to note are appreciated by all who have attended them.

The representatives on the various committees are well chosen, and it is interesting to us to read of their work in the departments for which they are responsible. It is very gratifying to hear that we are to have a model of the Titanic in these premises.

The monthly journal of the Institute is a valuable organ, not only for the papers and discussions, but also for the various contributions from members and outside sources. I am sure that the members who are away at sea must appreciate these very much. It is a pity that more advantage has not been taken of the Scholarships and other awards, but we hope that the junior members will compete more actively for these in the future.

I should like, in conclusion, to add my support to the other remarks made by Mr. Mayor, and I have much pleasure in seconding the motion that these Reports be adopted. (Carried unanimously.)

The CHAIRMAN: It is next my pleasing duty to present the Denny Gold Medal for last season to Mr. G. R. Hutchinson for his paper entitled, "Recent Developments in Propelling Equipment Practice of Reciprocating-Engined Steamers," read on March 13th.

Mr. G. R. HUTCHINSON: I thank you very much, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, for this award. I realise now, when I consider the unweildy title of my paper, that it is highly desirable to adopt one that can be handled with facility by everyone, without reference to the printed word. I hope that authors will choose titles for future Institute papers which are a little more apt than mine.

The CHAIRMAN: Mr. A. Greenfield is awarded the Institute Silver Medal for the paper he gave us on December 11th, 1928, entitled "Practical Refrigeration for Ships."

Mr. A. GREENFIELD: When I was asked to give a paper to the Institute I was very much flattered and in a rash moment I said

I should be very pleased to do so, but afterwards I wondered whether I could produce one of the standard required. When I gave it I had no idea that such a medal was given to non-Members and I was very pleasantly surprised when I received a note from the Honorary Secretary inviting me to attend to-night to receive this award. I thank you, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, and I appreciate the honour very much indeed.

The CHAIRMAN: I understand from the Honorary Secretary that the Awards gained in the Essay Competitions have been sent to the winners, as stated in the Annual Report.

It is next my pleasing duty to-night to propose a very hearty vote of thanks to our retiring President, Sir Alan Anderson, for his services during the past year. Sir Alan has always taken a keen interest in all our affairs, and you will remember his complimentary references to the marine engineer and the marine engineering profession in his Presidential address. It was unfortunate for us that he had to go to Australia to attend an important conference, and he has not yet returned. This prevented him from attending our Annual Dinner and from presiding over this meeting. Sir Alan has been a worthy successor to his predecessors, and I ask you to respond generously to my proposal that we accord him a hearty vote of thanks for his work during his year of office. We hope that he will continue his interest in the Institute and our affairs. Mr. Robertson has passed on to me a cablegram which was received from Sir Alan in reply to a brief cabled report of the Dinner from Lord Inverforth, who so kindly stepped into the breach and presided at that function, for which we are deeply indebted to him. Sir Alan's cable reads: "Congratulations on successful dinner and good wishes," (Applause.)

Mr. R. T. WILSON (Vice-Chairman of Council): Our Institute has always been successful in securing for the office of President the services of eminent men in the front rank of the shipping, shipbuilding and marine engineering industries, and in Sir Alan Anderson we have one of the leading shipowners of the present day. He is well-known for the wide range of his public activities, and particularly for his prominent part in connection with many of the important financial and shipping problems which are confronting us at the present time. His presidential address was most interesting and valuable to members of this Institute. We hope, as the Chairman mentioned, that Sir Alan will continue to take an interest in us and our doings, and

I have much pleasure in seconding this proposal. (Carried unanimously.)

Mr. T. R. THOMAS: It is a particularly easy and pleasing duty to me to-night to ask you to accord a vote of thanks to those gentlemen who have served the Institute as Officers and Members of Council. It is not my duty to comment on the Annual Report; we must, however, remember that it reflects the efficiency and energy of the Office Bearers and Council. The past two or three years have been particularly anxious times for those engaged in the shipbuilding and engineering industries, and many of our sister institutions are finding it difficult to maintain their membership. We, however, have not only maintained but strengthened our position numerically, and I think we are justified in thinking that the Institute is in a healthy condition.

I think also that we may congratulate ourselves on our wisdom in appointing a sufficient number of Scotsmen to the Council to ensure soundness of our finances. I am sure that we all congratulate our Honorary Secretary who has entered his eightieth year, and looks as though he will carry on to the century. (Applause.)

I would remind you that the Officers and Members of Council, when they accept office, undertake quite considerable labours. Their duties call for the expenditure of much time and energy and most of that time has to be spared from their limited leisure. I can assure them that we appreciate it very much; we are very proud of our Officers and Council, and we are sure that they will continue to uphold the traditions of the Institute. I have much pleasure in proposing this vote of thanks.

Mr. G. R. HUTCHINSON: I think Mr. Thomas has very well expressed our sentiments in a few well chosen words. It is evidently a labour of love which the Officers and Council carry out on our behalf, and I have much pleasure in seconding the proposal. (Applause. Carried unanimously.)

The CHAIRMAN: On behalf of the Officers and Council, I thank you very much indeed. I can assure you that they do take a keen interest in the work of the Institute as evidenced by their attendances at the meetings.

I should like to refer to-night to Mr. Adamson, our Honorary Secretary. He has been connected with the Institute throughout the forty years since its foundation, and he is now in his eightieth year. The Council think that he should now ease off from the stress of his duties and leave the main work in other hands. We all know how engrossed he is in the affairs of the Institute, but we feel that he is well advised to take things more easily, and we hope he will be spared for many years to come. I am glad to hear that the work of the Council during the past session has been satisfactory to the Members, and we sincerely hope that the Institute will continue to "go ahead." (Applause.)

Mr. W. McLAREN: Our Honorary Auditors, Messrs. Timpson and Harvey, are growing old in service. They fully appreciate their responsibility, and I have much pleasure in proposing that they be accorded a vote of thanks, coupled with a request that they accept reappointment for the ensuing year.

Mr. D. GREER: As one of the oldest Members, it gives me much pleasure to second that proposal. (Carried unanimously.)

Mr. F. M. TIMPSON: On behalf of my colleague, Mr. Harvey, and self, I can assure you that we are always willing to audit the accounts. It is a matter for congratulation that they indicate such a sound financial position. Our work is made easy by the efficiency of our Honorary Treasurer, and we shall be happy to serve next year in the same capacity. (Applause.)

The CHAIRMAN: I have now to call upon the Scrutineers to report the result of the ballot.

Mr. R. P. PALMER: I have to report that Mr. Crompton and I have examined the voting papers, and that the following have been elected:—

President: Engineer Vice-Admiral Sir Robert B. Dixon,
K.C.B., D. Eng.

All the Vice-Presidents have been elected.

Honorary Treasurer: Mr. A. Robertson.

Honorary Secretary: Mr. J. Adamson.

Members of Council: Messrs. A. Cross, J. Dunlop, J. Hamilton Gibson, T. R. Thomas and H. J. Vose.

(Applause.)

Mr. W. J. N. BRETT: I have pleasure in proposing a vote of thanks to the Scrutineers.

Eng. Lieut.-Comdr. A. J. ELDERTON, S.R., R.N.: I have much pleasure in seconding this proposal. (Carried unanimously.)

THE HONORARY TREASURER: As you know, we have this year been honoured by the presence of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales as the principal guest at our Annual Dinner. As Convener of the Dinner, I should like you to instruct me at this meeting to convey to His Royal Highness our thanks for attending, and our hope that he will similarly honour us on a future occasion. I postponed this matter owing to the close proximity of the Annual Meeting, in order that the communication should come from the members assembled at this meeting. Lord Inverforth, who presided in the unavoidable absence of Sir Alan Anderson, cabled to the President as follows:—

“ The Banquet was a great success, the Prince was very happy and interested, said he was coming back again. Your message was warmly received and general regret expressed at your enforced absence. I am to convey to you greetings from the whole company. With personal regards, INVERFORTH.”

I have, therefore, great pleasure in moving that you instruct me to write to the Prince of Wales a letter thanking him for having attended on that evening and hoping that he will do so again.

MR. J. THOM: I have much pleasure in seconding that motion. (Carried unanimously.)

THE CHAIRMAN: In connection with the Annual Dinner, I should like to read to you a letter which I have received this evening from Mr. G. Speck, one of our Members. He writes:—

“ Had I been able to be present at the General Meeting this evening it was my intention to propose a vote of thanks to the dinner committee for the excellent show provided at the Guildhall.

“ I have attended the three recent engineering dinners, and the Worshipful Company of Master Mariners, but consider that our Institute this year have produced something of which they can be proud, and I would like to express my appreciation to all concerned, and especially to Mr. Robertson for the splendid manner in which the seating arrangement was carried out, also for the artists provided.”

It is very gratifying to have a letter like that and to know that the Dinner was such a success. I am sure that Mr. Robertson deserves our very best thanks for all the work he carried out in connection with the Dinner. (Applause.)

The HONORARY TREASURER: It is very kind of you, and particularly Mr. Speck, to have written that letter. As you know, I have always been keenly interested in the work and the prestige of this Institute. I was doubtful, when we first applied, whether the City Corporation would allow us the use of the Guildhall because it is a very special privilege. It is largely due to the Chairman of the City Lands Committee that we were granted the concession, and I have already written on behalf of the Institute thanking the City Corporation for the use of the Guildhall. I would like to mention that the Chairman of the City Lands Committee gave me very valuable assistance in connection with the work involved, and I have also written him a letter of thanks. I thank you very much indeed for your kind and appreciative remarks.

The CHAIRMAN: I have next to ask whether any Member has any suggestion he would like to put forward for consideration by the Council.

The HON. TREASURER: I should like to take the privilege of speaking as an ordinary member and with your permission to have the opportunity of expressing views which I have held for many years concerning the position of these premises.

We have just celebrated our 40th anniversary, and had the other evening what we may look upon as the most satisfactory and the largest attended Annual Dinner during the whole of our history. I therefore think this evening an opportune moment to ask you to consider whether the time has not come for us to contemplate the building of new premises in a more prominent position in the City of London.

My reasons for raising this probably very contentious subject are:—

(1) Our present site is too far from the City and in a locality totally unsuited for an Institute such as ours.

(2) Situated as it is, the building is not utilised to a tenth of the extent it would be if it were more easily accessible.

(3) I am of the opinion it would add materially to our prestige as an Institute to be more centrally situated.

(4) That even though the idea has not been openly expressed previously at any of our meetings, quite a large body of members would favour these proposals if found practicable.

(5) That if the building were more centrally situated we should increase our membership very materially.

Before touching upon the financial side of the proposition I should like to make the following observations:—

(1) As to a probable site; I would suggest the most appropriate as being in the centre of the shipping area of London.

(2) The ground floor area would need to be somewhat larger than we hold at present and a site, say, approx. 80ft. x 50ft. would be nearly 50% greater.

(3) The suggested building to consist of basement, ground floor and five floors above.

(4) The basement could be used for storage, safe and proper filing for the accommodation of records which are increasing year by year.

(5) The ground floor to be used for Secretarial Offices, etc.

(6) The first floor to have a Lecture Hall, Library and Reading Room. The question of a Billiard Room could be considered.

(7) The Library, I would suggest, should be the most comprehensive in London, in so far as relates to books on Engineering and Shipping matters.

(8) The remaining four floors to be let as Offices with independent entrance.

The opinions I have expressed may be at variance with the views of many of the Members present, but none the less my action may open a discussion that may prove of far-reaching importance.

Naturally you will say "how can it be done? Are we strong enough financially to contemplate such a step?" My feeling is that we are, and I will try to prove this by giving you a few figures which I have prepared; these must of course be considered as only very approximate.

The area of building suggested would be about 4,000 sq. ft., and the price we would have to pay for a Freehold site in the area I have mentioned can be taken as about £12 10s. per sq. ft., making a total of £50,000.

The assets we possess are approximately as follows, according to the Balance Sheet which has been presented this evening:—

Estimated approximate value of site and building ...	25,000
Investments	2,500
On Deposit Account	4,500
Approximate surrender value of Leasehold Redemption Policies	1,500
Average surplus of Income over Expenditure during the last five years is £957, which would provide payment of interest at 6% on capital amounting to	16,000

If the building were to consist of basement, ground floor and five floors above, the cubic content would be about 320,000 feet, which at 3s. per cube foot would mean a cost of £48,000; this, added to the purchase price of freehold, would roughly involve a scheme of £100,000 to £110,000 at the outside.

We should need to borrow say £60,000 which at 6% would cost £3,600 per annum. Against this you would be receiving rents for the four top floors (based on a figure of say as low as 6s. per sq. ft. profit) would bring in about £4,800 per annum, leaving a balance of £1,170 for the annual reduction of borrowed money. This would not come into full operation until probably the second year after completion, and of course would be altogether apart from the support we should probably receive by way of financial help from many of our members towards reducing the money on loan year by year.

Gentlemen, I trust you will excuse me for having spoken at such length, but I feel very strongly that it would be in the very best interests of the Institute to give the matter full consideration and with the Chairman's permission I should like to move the following proposition:—

“ That this meeting request the Council to consider whether the time has not arrived for us to have premises in a more convenient part of the City of London, and if so, to investigate the matter fully with a view to placing some concrete proposals before a specially convened meeting of members at an early date.

Mr. F. M. TIMPSON: I should like to second Mr. Robertson's proposal. It is a matter well worth exploring. When we look back a few years we see that the financial position has greatly improved, and I am sure that if this scheme could be carried out it would result in an increased revenue and would increase the status of Marine Engineers through this Institute.

Mr. A. H. MATHER: This is a subject, as probably some of you know, which is of special interest to me as Secretary of the Building Committee for the provision and erection of these premises. The premises have now been in service for fifteen years, and it passed through my mind, while reading the report, that it included a copy of the old press notice of the opening of the Stratford premises. Possibly Mr. Adamson could add a corresponding extract regarding the opening of the present premises, and thus give a complete story up to the present time.

I think the suggestion of Mr. Robertson deserves most sympathetic consideration by the membership. From the figures quoted by Mr. Robertson the proposition appears to be quite good and sound financially, and there is no doubt that if carried into effect it would enhance the value of the work that the Institute is doing for the benefit of Marine Engineers. I hope that the Council will be asked by this meeting to make every enquiry and effort to ensure the proposal being carried to a successful issue.

Mr. W. McLAREN: I would like to ask Mr. Robertson what position he considers would be a suitable site in the City. We had some little trouble in coming to the same conclusion about this property. We have daylight all round this building, and we might get jammed in the City somewhere where it would be necessary to have artificial light, and there might be ancient lights also. I suggest that we should consider the drift that is going on in new buildings in the City.

The HON. TREASURER: Naturally on embarking on a subject of this kind, I have had to be very careful in the preparation of any figures to be placed before you. I may say that as far as the valuation of these premises is concerned, I have consulted our estate agents, who are thoroughly reliable authorities in these matters, in arriving at the figures given. As regards the site, I have also gone very carefully into that question through confidential channels, and have spent some time inspecting plans of sites in the shipping area East of the new Lloyd's building and West of Lloyd's Register of Shipping. Sites in this area have been sold during the past three or four years at £12 per sq. foot. I have taken £12 10s. per sq. foot in my calculations. I have also obtained expert confirmation of my opinion that 3s. per cubic foot for the cost of a new building of this type is a fair and reasonable estimate, also that anything between 2s. 9d. and 3s. 3d. could be considered a fair value to place upon a new building in the City of London, including the cost of foundations.

The CHAIRMAN: It is a very big question and one which requires careful consideration. I will repeat the wording of the motion and put the proposal to the meeting. (Carried).

Mr. H. J. VOSE: It gives me very great pleasure to propose a vote of thanks to our Chairman.

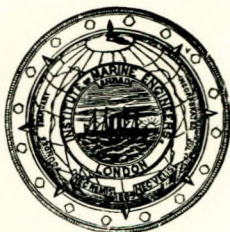

Mr. R. S. KENNEDY: I have much pleasure in seconding this proposed vote of thanks to Mr. Farenden for so ably presiding over this meeting to-night. We are all very familiar with the work of Mr. Farenden as Chairman of Council. There is a great deal of work to be done there, and he has certainly taken some very heavy cuts at it. He is not afraid to put in a "test hole" where required, and he has been asked to-night to put in a deep one! I think we may look upon his work at this meeting as a sort of "finishing cut," a polishing process after his session's work.

The CHAIRMAN: I thank you, gentlemen. That concludes the business of this meeting.
